Global Stage is a 6-level language and literacy course for young learners that aims to inspire and develop key language skills through motivating global content to spark curiosity.

The course brings together a rich language syllabus with an extensive and diverse literacy programme. This combination helps students to develop key Presentation Skills, Thinking Skills, Social and Emotional Skills and Global Citizenship, which gives them the confidence they need to excel in their education and in life.

- Global Citizenship lessons encourage students to think beyond their immediate community, and to be globally oriented, competent and conscientious.
- Creative thinking tasks, such as the Visible Thinking Routines, a research-based framework developed out of Harvard University, help foster independent learning.
- Dedicated writing and speaking lessons help to nurture children to become competent speakers and writers of English so they can confidently engage with subject areas across the curriculum.
- The Language Workbook provides additional opportunities for heads-down grammar and vocabulary practice, with activities at different levels of difficulty, enabling students to progress at their own pace.
- Easy-to-use digital lessons in the Teacher App reduce lesson preparation time while gamified language and literacy activities in the Student App on Navio extend students' contact with English outside the classroom.

Worldwide rights

Some of our titles are market restricted in certain regions of the world. For full details on the rights issues please visit the 'Rights & Permissions' page on www.springernature.com/gp/macmillaneducation/work-with-us/rights-permissions

Anti-Piracy

Reporting illegal e-book piracy and physical counterfeits. The unauthorised sharing and downloading of Macmillan Education books and materials online or the unauthorised copying and distribution of physical products, unless otherwise permitted under applicable copyright law may be an illegal activity which may breach international copyright and/or trademark law. Piracy is taken very seriously by Macmillan Education as it negatively impacts both authors and our ability to produce high quality books and services. Macmillan Education titles are protected by a dedicated Anti-Piracy team within the General Counsel's Office. To report suspected piracy of Macmillan products please contact us at anti-piracy@springernature.com

Copying

The UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act of 1988 (as amended) allows an individual reader to make a single copy of a limited portion of a work for the purposes of non-commercial research or private study. This limit is subjective and advice should be sought from Macmillan Education. It does not allow the copying of entire books or long extracts or the making of multiple copies of shorter extracts. Similar copyright law applies in other countries. In some countries it is possible for staff in schools to do a limited amount of copying if the school has a licence issued by a collective licensing agency such as the Copyright Licensing Agency (CLA) in the UK www.cla.co.uk. Please see www.ifrro.org for information about similar organizations outside the UK. It is also permissible to copy copyright material when the publisher has designated a book or part of a book 'photocopiable'. This special permission is always indicated clearly in the book both on the imprints page and on every photocopiable page. Many of the Teacher's Books that accompany Macmillan Education ELT courses contain such photocopiable material. Under no circumstances may schools copy materials for use in self-access centres, unless they have a licence with the CLA or a similar organization as required by local law and allow/use copying strictly in accordance with their regulations. Please see our website or contact Macmillan Education for further details on copying limits.

Rights and Permissions

If you would like to reproduce, translate or quote from material published by Macmillan Education in print, online, on television, on radio or via other digital media, please check first that we are the correct copyright holders by reading the following information: Only titles commencing with the following ISBNs, 978 1405-0, 978 0330, 978 0333, 978 0230 & 978 0435 will be copyrighted to Macmillan Education. For other titles, you will need to consult a bibliographic service such as the British Library or Library of Congress, which will assist you in finding the correct copyright holder.

Very old Macmillan titles with ISBNs commencing 0023 & 0024 are copyrighted to Prentice Hall/Pearson Higher Education US: USAPermissions@pearson.com ISBNs commencing 0028 (Macmillan Library Reference titles) are now copyrighted to Cengage. Please contact Cengage directly for any re-use query. Please note also that Free Press, Collier Macmillan and Macmillan Inc. (Macmillan New York) are not part of the Macmillan Group in the UK, these are part of Simon & Schuster in the USA: www.simonandschuster.com/about/contact_info. Any requests for Pan Macmillan UK should be sent to: www.panmacmillan.com

If you have a permissions or rights request, you will need to complete a form to give us full details. Visit www.springernature.com/macmillaneducation/work-with-us/rights-permissions to access and submit the Rights Request Form.

No requests will be considered or responded to if the required form is not completed. This is to ensure that we have all the necessary data to process your request. PLEASE NOTE: Macmillan reserves the right to charge an administration fee of £35 to cover any direct costs should your request be granted, and there may also be an additional fee for the right to reproduce or use the material.
